

Recognize your (negative) thoughts and feelings

When going through an episode of anxiety, try to place the following in your body:

- Thoughts
- Feelings
- Physical reactions

Use different colors or symbols to represent the three categories above. Use the human outline on the left to mark them all.

This exercise can make dropping the anchor and using the ACE formula a lot easier.

